CORPORATE FASHION FROM JANOURAS CUSTOM DESIGN LIMITED

This season a more womanly silhouette emerges with tactile textured fabrics fashioned into shaped suits, balanced by softer skirts with pleat or flare detailing. A “Little Chic”, a “Little Retro”.

“Sporty” Waistcoats with cut away backs are part of this seasons sharp new trends. Team these with blouses that feature bias blouse cuffs done in sharp stripes & pretty prints layered with straight pants.

As usual it's all in the details, pep-lums, piping, interesting seams and darts, collars and cuff treatments.

The surprise of soft colour choices for inner pieces creates the end result of a garment that reflects international standards of Corporate Branding. This suits both the discerning customer and the busy lifestyle of today's career woman.

CORPORATE COLOUR TREND REPORT

The most powerful non-verbal element available to visually build a connection with your customers is Colour. It communicates a message about a company or product while making it identifiable.

Enjoy new colour combinations that conjoin to create scenarios. It's a breath between two extremes, each has it's own personality. Deep Blues remain strong but the feeling is changed when this classic colour is paired with aqua and turquoise. Brown is another popular, yet timeless colour. Beautiful mid tones and deep shades can be paired with everything from the softest pink to warm straw, bold reds and water inspired blue greens. Grey has recently become the new neutral; the palette is gentle and effective when paired with pinks and mauves.

From plum to mulberry, purple is becoming a very prominent colour. A touch of class is added when paired with ginger. Burnt orange and Cinnamon Stick energizes neutrals, and is the right bright for most skin tones. The colour green is very diverse, ranging from shades of celery to deep green. This colour can make a statement all on its own or when paired with soft ivories. Red warms up and cools down this season; it is a prime colour that captures a range of hues from Lipstick Red to Oxblood. By choosing the correct colours for your company you consistently convey your business message while reassuring your customers.
